ABOUT ME

I am an educator and psychologist. After 12 years working in a vulnerable immigrant community in the US, I accepted a career challenge; with that becoming the leader, developer, and analyst of a newly founded institute in Brazil. For the past 6 years, I have been working with the contemporary theme of digital education, with a focus on protecting the lives of children and adolescents as they enter the virtual world, having an active role in policymaking, as well as developing and managing a sustainable early education program for a highly vulnerable local community with the creation of a framework and pilot methodologies that fit the community main goals of change and improvement.
